Christen joins CINCH as a Program Coordinator. Born and raised in Virginia Beach, Christen is excited to continue to foster growth, development, and healthy lifestyles among youth in Hampton Roads, starting at infancy. Through her time at Liberty, Christen developed clinical and health education skills, as well exploring psychology theories, which provides her a well-rounded perspective of health. Additionally, for several years she has worked in youth centers, providing her with experience that will help her connect with members of this community as well as a passion for helping children succeed in all walks of life.

Christen holds a Bachelor's degree in Clinical Health Promotion from Liberty University and is pursuing her Master of Public Health at Eastern Virginia Medical School.
